DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 25-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Saeki et al., USP 4,900,501 in view of Kobayakawa, USP 6,913,950.

The cited primary reference substantially teaches the basic claimed method of encapsulating an electronic device comprising the steps of electrically and mechanically attaching a plurality of semiconductors to a leadframe, and placing the device within a molding cavity of a molding apparatus. The apparatus comprises a transfer mold having a plurality of cavities fed by runners formed through consecutive cavities. The apparatus allows flow of resin from the first cavity, to the second cavity, to the next consecutive cavities until all are filled with resin molding material. Note that consideration of the reference is not limited to 3 cavities; see col. 3, line 65 to col. 4, line 8. Also see col. 3, lines 10-60; col. 2, lines 55-68.

The cited primary reference does not teach a leadless semiconductor package as claimed.

The added secondary reference teaches as conventional the feature of encapsulating leadless semiconductor packages, including providing a plurality of die pads 40 on a mother substrate to which a plurality of devices are attached. See claims 1-7; col. 1, lines 1-12.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include a leadless semiconductor device as shown in the added reference, when performing the process set forth in the primary reference, for forming encapsulated leadless devices, as such are common in the industry and are an equivalent alternative to the devices shown in the primary reference.

With respect to claims 26-27, note that while the primary reference shows three cavities, consideration is not limited to three, but can include more than three, and as many as desired – see col. 3, line 65 to col. 4, line 8.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. USP's 4983110; 5218759; 5635115; 5932254; 6173490; 6338813; 64652776893903; JP 04345073 A.
